Abstract

A method of driving a liquid crystal display wherein an application sequence of a data is changed, to thereby improve a picture quality. In the method, the data is supplied to a desired number of data lines on a basis of first sequence in a first horizontal period. The data is supplied to the desired number of data lines on a basis of second sequence in a second horizontal period following the first horizontal period.